

The Alpha Center welcomes Kim Liedtke to the ministry team as a special projects coordinator. Kim has been involved in pastoral ministry for over 20 years as a pastor, teacher and administrator. He and his wife, Gwen, have four grown, married children and four grandchildren.

Kim has a passion for proclaiming and teaching the sanctity of all life, traditional Biblical marriages, the preservation of Christian family values and mentoring men to be better fathers and leaders in their homes and communities. He has his master's degrees in Christian Education and Counseling with concentrations in family ministries. At the Alpha Center, Kim will be coordinating the Fatherhood Mentoring program and special projects including a fresh focus on fatherhood.

“ The most rewarding thing for me as a father and a grandfather is to observe the members of my family following in the footsteps of Jesus. I believe God's words in Exodus 20:6, 'God shows His love to a thousand generations to those who love Him and keep His commandments.' Today's fathers must do their utmost to pass along God's truths to the next generation. ”
